FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY AT 30 JUNE 2018

We are pleased to see the end of June, which was a very difficult month. Factors including the poor local GDP print, escalating trade wars and expectations of reducing global liquidity conspired to create the perfect storm for South Africa and emerging markets (EMs) in general.

Listed Property declined 3.1% for the month, whilst the All Bond Index was down c. 1.2%. This was buffered by the rand weakening 9.45% (based on where we marked the month-end portfolios) over the period.

RISK PROFILE: LOW

Low	Mod-Low	Mod	Mod-High	High
-----	---------	-----	----------	------

- This portfolio has relatively low equity exposure, resulting in relatively low volatility compared to higher risk portfolios.
- Where the asset allocation contained in this MDD reflects offshore exposure, the portfolio is exposed to currency risks
- The portfolio is exposed to default and interest rate risks.
- Therefore, it is suitable for medium term investment horizons.
- The expected potential long term investment returns are lower over the medium to long term than higher risk portfolios.

HIGH / LOW MONTHS BY YEAR

Dates	2015	2016	2017	2018
High	1.1%	1.2%	1.1%	0.9%
Low	-0.1%	-0.3%	0.0%	0.1%

Overweight US dollars was the only place to be during the month. However, we are constructive on EMs currently and therefore not overweight US dollars. This means that we returned a modest 0.12% on your investment for the month.

At this stage, we are unlikely to make significant changes to your portfolio. The assets are attractively priced and we think that the headwinds to EMs are likely to gradually abate.

MARKET COMMENTARY

We remain of the view that EM fundamentals have not shifted materially, with high commodity prices (in particular oil) likely to be supportive of EMs. We also still believe that a stronger US (which we expect for the remainder of 2018) will provide support to EMs.

The tariffs that are being implemented against China on 6 July are still relatively minor and are only likely to shave 0.1% off the growth rates in the US and China. Even with a full-scale escalation of tariffs, which is being touted, the impact will remain manageable, in our view. At the moment, the trade war is the US vs the rest of the world. As long as the rest of the world doesn't descend into fighting amongst themselves then this will be painful, but manageable and will pass.

We find that listed property with blue-chip dividend yields between 9% and 10% is attractive and we have been increasing your exposure. Similarly, in our view, the R186 bonds are attractive when yields are towards 9% and we have significantly increased the portfolio exposure.

The rand has weakened by 8.1% over the month and we think that it is slightly too weak. However, the currency is volatile and could certainly weaken further, although we have been gradually reducing the US dollar exposure of the portfolio. This is all consistent with our view that we are unlikely to enter a full-blown EMs crisis, while the US is growing solidly and commodity prices are holding up. Therefore, we think that the pessimistic mood that has pervaded the markets is too negative and that sentiment will recover over time. For now, the yield on the assets in question is attractive and we are happy to just sit earning the interest and dividend income.
