Transaction Costs are a necessary cost in administering the Fund and impacts Fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER. The TER and Transaction Costs cannot be determined accurately because of the short life span of the Fund. Calculations are based on actual data where possible and best estimates where actual data is not available. The TER and Transaction cost calculations are based upon the portfolio's direct costs for the financial year ended 31 August 2017, whilst the underlying portfolio's ratio and cost calculations are based upon their most recent published figures, being 31 March 2018.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY AT 30 JUN 2018

Amazon's press releases have a tendency to wreak havoc on competitors' share prices. In late June, Amazon announced the acquisition of online pharmacy PillPack, for $1bn. Walmart had reportedly offered $700mn for the latter, but had dragged its feet over regulatory concerns. Interestingly, Walmart's market capitalisation fell $3bn on the day of the announcement. Market participants punished Walmart for its caution and rewarded Amazon for its ambition, adding almost $20bn to its market value. Pharmacy majors, CVS and Walgreens, saw their share prices declining by 6% and 10%, respectively.

On the same day, Amazon also announced that it would help entrepreneurs to set up businesses focused on delivering its packages. These small business could generate annual profit of as much as $300,000, while operating fleets of up to 40 delivery vehicles. This initiative builds on Amazon Flex, in which anyone can earn money by delivering parcels. Amazon has taken the Uber concept and applied it to one of its major challenges: meeting customer demand. The share prices of delivery companies, FedEx and UPS, fell 1.3% and 2.3%, respectively.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY AT 30 JUN 2018

Emerging Markets (EM) were particularly weak in June, with the MSCI EM Index falling 4.6%. The culprits were ostensibly: rising US interest rates, strengthening US dollar, escalating US-China trade war rhetoric and disappointing economic data (amongst others). The MSCI China Index fell 5.6% and the Shanghai Composite fell 8%. US equities managed to eke out a positive return for the month, with the S&P 500 dragged higher by the interest rate sensitive real estate and consumer staples sectors, which benefited as risk aversion kept a lid on bond yields.
