Fund Manager Commentary:

October saw global markets experiencing their worst month since the global financial crisis (GFC). This as a mix of fears around trade wars, slowing growth, higher interest rates, tension with Saudi Arabia (following the murder of journalist Jamal Khashoggi) and worries that US company earnings may have peaked, rattled bourses around the world. The IMF also lowered its 2019 growth outlook for both the US and China citing "the deepening trade war" between the world's two largest economies as the reason. In the US, the tech-heavy Nasdaq bore the brunt of the destruction losing 9.2% of its value MoM (YTD the index is still up 5.8%). This came as its formerly high-flying constituents including Amazon (-20.2%) and Netflix (-19.3%) lost significant ground in October.

On the US economic data front, consumer confidence remained strong, while GDP data showed that the US economy grew at a faster-than-expected pace of 3.5% YoY in 3Q18. Personal consumption expenditure (PCE), a key inflation measure, increased by 1.6% last quarter, well below an expected 2.2% increase and showing that inflation was being kept in check. Consumer spending, which accounts for over two-thirds of US economic activity, grew by an impressive 4% in 3Q18 - its strongest growth since 4Q14.

October was red across the board on the JSE, with the FTSE JSE All Share Index (J203) closing Wednesday 6.0% lower MoM (down 12.0% YTD) at 52,388.87 - well below the 60,000-point mark it crossed on 28 August. Disappointing MoM performances from heavyweight constituents including Naspers (-15.0%), BHP Billiton (-4.1%), British American Tobacco (-3.6%), Richemont (-7.0%) and Glencore (-1.7% MoM) conspired to pull the JSE lower. The large mining majors (Anglo American, BHP Billiton, Glencore) also weighed on the resources sector despite gold counters putting in a good showing, with the Resi-20 declining by 4.2% MoM (+14% YTD). Once again, industrial shares were the worst hit with the Indi-25 dropping 8.6% (-20.6% YTD), dragged down by the fall in the Naspers and Richemont share prices. Financials declined by 4.5% MoM (-11.5% YTD) as heavyweights such as FirstRand (-5.2%), Sanlam (-6.1%) and Standard Bank Group (-6.7%) also posted steep MoM declines.

On the macro front, SA September headline consumer price inflation (CPI) was flat at 4.9% YoY, while MoM, inflation accelerated to 0.5% after contracting by 0.1% in August. Core inflation, excluding the volatile food, beverages, energy etc. categories, was unchanged from August's 4.2% YoY. MoM, core CPI came in at 0.5% in September vs August's 0.0% print. The rand (-4.6% MoM) was under pressure during the month as the medium-term budget policy statement (MTBPS) and the Moody's reaction to it weighed on the local currency. YTD, the rand is down 19.4% vs the greenback.

On the commodities front, the oil market did not escape the carnage and, despite oil prices reaching their highest levels since 2014 in September, October saw these gains wiped out as Brent crude dropped 8.8% MoM. After six straight months of declines, gold finally turned around in October to record a 2.0% MoM gain (however, the price is still down 6.8% YTD).

A money market portfolio is not the same as a bank deposit account. The price is targeted at a constant value. The total return to the investor is made up of interest received and any gain or loss made on any particular instrument. In most cases the return will merely have the effect of increasing or decreasing the daily yield, but that in the case of abnormal losses it can have the effect of reducing the capital value of the portfolio. Excessive withdrawals from the portfolio may place the portfolio under liquidity pressures and in such circumstances a process of ring-fencing of withdrawal instructions and managed payouts over time may be followed. The yield is calculated using an annualised seven day rolling average.

Effective Annual Cost ("EAC"):

Boutique Collective Investments adopted the ASISA Standard on Effective Annual Cost ("EAC"). The EAC measure allows you to compare charges on your investments as well as their impact on your investment returns prior to investing.
